

Conclusion

The existing of the internet and the changing the world to an universal village has forced all the companies of business and money and educational to improve a new ways and from her the « e-learning » was born to help all the universities to reach the largest number of students around the world.

The Goal of « e-learning » is to save money and time and to bring near the chance to get all kind of degrees which they want from the big universities of the world.

Our project can be adopted in an educational center or an open university because his good system of « credits » that it offer, plus it give more services to students and teachers and managers like:

- Web mail
- Note
- Documents
- Seminars
- Chat
- Discussion forums etc...

Now, in our days, the student work and learn so he could work in a place that it is to far to reach his university, the system of « e-learning » has come to solve this problem and to bring near the high ways and to save time and money.